

390,000 "Missing"

Diefenbaker Raps Call-Ups, Says "Vast Army" Wanders About Dominion Unmolested

By JAMES McCOOK

OTTAWA, May 2.—(CP)—J. G. Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre) said yesterday in the Commons there were nearly 390,000 "missing men" in Canada who had failed to respond to compulsory military service calls.

Speaking on labor department war estimates, Mr. Diefenbaker said a return had showed that 1,649,477 men were called up for medical examination and 575,969 reported. This left 489,468 unaccounted for, less 71,945 who enlisted when they received the call-up notice.

The number of men unaccounted for had increased about 40,000 in the last eight months.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Labor Minister Mitchell had stated only 40,000 men now were unaccounted for compared with 87,674 a year ago.

NOT SHOWN BY RECORDS
"But that favorable statement is not borne out by the records," he continued.

He said there had been inequality in the call-up as between various parts of Canada.

Mr. Mitchell said Mr. Diefenbaker had quoted figures "to suit himself." He said he stood by his earlier figures of men not accounted for.

When a reference was made to "a lost legion" of men it was not true, and an effort was being made to locate them.

At the opening of the session, Finance Minister Flaherty presented a statement covering reviews of the Bank Act, which received first reading.

BRIEF STATEMENT
In presenting the bill, Mr. Flaherty made a brief statement touching on the more important changes proposed. He said a more extended explanation would be given the house Tuesday on second reading.

Minister Flaherty had obtained approval of a resolution covering a bill to provide for the establishment of an air transport board. The bill will be introduced at a later sitting.

No details of the proposed board have been given except that it will act as a licensing and regulatory body in respect of commercial air services. It will operate in a capacity similar to that of the Board of Transport Commissioners which now exercises authority over railway and air transport. Some Ottawa authorities said it was probable the board membership would include a representative of the transport department civil aviation branch.

Mr. Diefenbaker said there had been further losses in call-up men in addition to those who failed to report for medical examinations. Orders sent out for actual military training numbered 433,433 and the men who reported numbered 21,762.

SPREAD IN TOTALS
There was a spread in the total of enlistments and call-ups of from about 5.8 per cent of the population between 18 and 45 years of age in the military district to 42.7 per cent, the latter being the Toronto district.

From June 23, 1943, to Jan. 31, 463,942 were called for medical examination. In Quebec military district 8.5 per cent of the total population, or 5,000 out of some 60,000 men had been called.

"I would like an explanation of that, why so few calls for medical examination were sent out," continued Mr. Diefenbaker.

"I am giving the picture with regard to the unfairness of the call-up and the vast army which wanders about this Dominion, free of any serious threat of prosecution."

22,000 MEN FOUND
The total number of men found has been 22,000 at $2.50 a head (the fee paid agencies seeking men who fail to answer the call-up notice).

"I say without fear of contradiction, after reading the records of the United States, Great Britain, New Zealand and Australia, that the record as to call-up in this country reveals an appalling condition of default and disobedience unknown anywhere else among countries having any system of call-up."

"It shows this, that either the statistics are wrong—and they can be wrong, because they have been checked and cross checked and we have been assured as to their correctness—or the enforcement is all wrong, and that is the conclusion to which any reasonable person must come under the circumstances. It shows that political expediency dictates the policy of the state and paralyzes results."

DENIED BY MITCHELL
Mr. Mitchell: "My honorable friend is attempting to 'plant' him on the Allies cannot be ruled out."

Described as an economics expert in Berlin from 1941 to the end of 1942, Sakimura was quoted as saying that German economy is already strained and that the opening of the western front might cause economic collapse. It will certainly hasten it."

Had indicated support of the government's manpower policies.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (P.C.-York-Sunbury), former Conservative house leader, said he was not (Hanson) who rose in the house and stated the party's manpower policy.

CLAIMS CHANGE
"I can show you where I changed it," said Mr. Hanson.

Mr. Johnston said there had been a change only in the last year or so, and then only because younger men were doing ever more possible to encourage recruiting and would continue to do so.

"The government wishes to pass over to the officers that they have not the job of coercing, forcing, bullying and pleading with these men," said Mr. White.

SUGGESTS 'PROMISES'
"Get so many men to go active, and we will give you leave, we will give you days or we will give you other things."

Col. Ralston: "My honorable friend is drawing on his imagination."

Mr. White said Alex Walker, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion had asked why the government did not use its authority and put home defence men in the active army.

Maj.-Gen. C. H. Pearkes, V.C., chief of the Pacific Command, had to "pledge" men to go on active service and had said the outcome of the second front might depend on the number of home defence men ready to back up troops now overseas.

"You can only take the inference from those remarks that there are not sufficient reinforcements overseas," said Mr. White.

Col. Ralston: "It is absolutely ridiculous for my honorable friend to say anything of the kind."

"SHAMEFUL" METHODS
C. E. Johnston (S.C.-Bow River) said the methods being used to have men in the home defence army go active service were "shameful."

It should not be thought all men in the home defence force were "yellow," he said. Many of them believed that with their service in the home defence army they were acting in accordance with the government policy which established such a force.

They were ready to join the active service force when the government decided all men should be in this category.

Instead of appealing to the pride of home defence troops asking them to join the active army, Maj.-Gen. Pearkes should be appealing to the pride of the government to see that it had suitable manpower facilities. Worthy officers should not be given the task of appealing to home defence men to go active, said Mr. Johnston.

Lt.-Col. Arthur Ross (P.C.-Souris) said Col. Ralston had a gallant record in the First Great War and his attitude on obtaining men for active service had not been what might be expected.

Col. Ross said he himself favored full mobilization of manpower for war requirements. National selective service was not operating as well as it should to ensure an all-out national war effort in respect to manpower. The policy of having officers appeal to home defence men to go active was not "a manly one."

FIRST JAPANESE OF "STANDING" GOES TO ALLIES

LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—The Daily Mail yesterday printed an interview of its Stockholm correspondent with a Prof. S. Sakimura, who was described as an ex-member of the Japanese embassy staff in Berlin and "the first Japanese of standing to desert to the Allies."

The interview was carried under an editor's note which said: "The possibility that the Axis is attempting to 'plant' him on the Allies cannot be ruled out."

Described as an economics expert in Berlin from 1941 to the end of 1942, Sakimura was quoted as saying that German economy is already strained and that the opening of the western front might cause economic collapse. It will certainly hasten it."

Bank Changes Are Outlined To Commons

OTTAWA, May 2.—(CP)—Revisions to the Bank Act providing for a reduction in the maximum interest rate and provision for further legislation extending credit to farmers were introduced yesterday in the Commons by Finance Minister Flaherty.

Main provisions of the proposed act are:

- 1.—Reduction of the maximum interest rate from seven to six per cent.
- 2.—Limiting the right to issue or re-issue bank notes to the Bank of Canada.
- 3.—Provision to chartered banks to make unsecured personal loans at a rate equivalent to five per cent for a one-year loan.
- 4.—Extension of the section covering borrowing for business purposes to new provision for agricultural loans to be made under a separate Farm Improvement Loans Act.

SIMPLIFY PROCESS

The section of the act covering loans for business purposes is revised with a view to simplification. New provision is proposed to enable banks to meet intermediate credit and short-term credit needs of agriculture.

In an explanation of changes printed with the bill the government announced its intention to introduce a farm improvement loans act to guarantee a bank against losses up to a specified proportion of its aggregate loans for such purposes.

"The proposed farm improvement loans act will enable farmers to obtain loans on terms heretofore not available for the purchase of implements and equipment, farm electrification and generally for the improvement and development of their farms and homes, the conditions of the loan and the terms of repayment being related to the use for which the proceeds are to be put and the nature and source of the farmer's income," said the explanation.

TRANSFER DEPOSITS
Under an amendment to one of the sections of the present act, claimed deposits of chartered banks are to be transferred to the Bank of Canada which will have the liability to repay deposits after a period of 10 years.

(The unclaimed balances in the chartered banks in Canada which are being taken over by the Bank of Canada total about $200,000. Each year in the past the chartered banks have been required to make returns to the finance department of the unclaimed balances they hold.)

Should any claimant be able to establish his or her right to any balance the Bank of Canada will make payment. In the past a chartered bank had to be prepared to new banks shall be precluded from making such payment whenever a claim was proven.)

PROPOSAL ON NOTES

In the section of the bill dealing with note issue it is proposed that to 10 per cent of their unimpaired paid-up capital.

Provisions are made for the Bank of Canada to be the exclusive agency for the redemption of notes both of defunct banks and by 1950, of existing banks.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Baseball met its most big test of the 1944 season and passed it with flying turtles. A total of 208,907 paying fans took advantage of the season's first "good" Sunday to attend doubleheaders in eight major league cities blasting any doubts about the public's regard for the game in another year of war.

Rookie Pitchers Most Interesting Of Card Members

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—Everybody knows the Cardinals should run away and hide in the National League this season.

The most interesting members of the party this spring are the new pitchers Alvin Juchacz, Edderly Sylvester, U. Donnelly and Frederick A. Schmidt, all right-handers.

The most interesting development was St. Louis' failure in centre field. Stan Musial has picked up where he left off last season.

Emil Verban, Al Jurisch, fall as the batting and total base champion of the majors, 136.4 as a centre fielder. The Dodgers Demom gave way to the Red Sox when it became obvious that he longed in right field, from where he had thrown to the greatest advantage.

Five Red Birds led senior loop pitchers in earned run averages in 1943—Alpha Bress, 1.52. Howie Poller, 1.25. Max Lanier, 1.26. Al Bress, 1.27; and Merton Cooper, 1.30. Poller and Bress are gone. So are Murray Dickson, Edderly Krist and Ernie White, but the latter arm was as dead as the other anyway, and, as accomplished as they were, the others will hardly be missed.

PITCHING REPLACEMENTS
Tall and rangy Al Jurisch was a streakout with New Orleans and Rochester until called by the Coast Guard, for the New Orleans team of which he bagged 20 games last summer. A medical discharge hasn't slowed down his fast ball.

Blix Donnelly, a workhorse, turned in his third best season game in winning 17 for Rochester in 1943, had an ERA of 2.40. But Blyer, 4.25, is pitched 27 games for a miserable Sacramento outfit, sports an ERA of 2.49. Obviously this is not easily discouraged. Fred Schmidt is a power pitcher called in from Rochester with an ERA of 2.42.

St. Louis has the finest catcher in baseball in Walker Cooper, again backed by K.O. O'Dea.

Louis Klein is the only senior member of the infield, and Billy Southworth says Emil Verban, who participated in every game for Columbus in '43, would be on second base even if the New Orleans Seniors were among those present.

Verban is exceptionally well known how to play second. He has played minor league ball for several years, but has never hit any too well.

VERBAN AN IMPROVEMENT
Slats Marion and Verban give the boken in the red blazers as slick as second base combination as any club could hope to have in pace-time. Ray Sanders and Whitely Kuroski have a year's additional experience.

Danny Litwiler is the third outfielder. Delis Garna can call hit and Pepper Martin is the life of the party.

Billy Southworth is right. The Cardinals could lose a few men or two and still win.

Apparently there is no end to Sam Brandon's replacement.

Souza's hand was heard only once by his mother. It may be so nervous that she never went to hear it again.

Honus Was With 5 Clubs In 1895

Old Timer Recalls Early Days Of Wagner in Oil, Iron Loop
WASHINGTON, May 2.—Little did I think in getting out a book on great baseball players of the past that it would bring down upon my understanding head an avalanche of inquiries about the good old days.

Now comes a gentleman, Mr. Samuel O. Allen, chairman of the Lima Locomotive Works, Inc., who blames me for giving him a mild case of insomnia. He says my critics are not so kind—they omit the "mild" part, but Mr. Allen's letter is a most kind and known information about good old Honus Wagner. He writes in:

"Dear Mr. Grayson: A friend gave me a copy of your 'They Played the Game' and reading it is the fact that I let it rest of a half night's sleep in thinking it at one session."

"I would like to know whether or not you have any authentic history of Honus Wagner's connections, before he broke into the big league with the 'Oil and Iron' League of Pennsylvania."

"At the time of the existence of that league (made up of teams in the oil and coal section of Pennsylvania) I was a resident of Warren (a member club) and then made the acquaintance of the brother Al at Warren in the Iron and Oil League played out the rest of the season."

"Looks as if Mr. Allen answers his own question. At 16 Wagner played for the St. Louis, 'the best team in or around Mansfield.' He began as a crosshanded hitter, but his brother Al reminded that Wagner

LONDON, May 2.—(AP)—The fact that American business had received orders for rebuilding Russia's industry to "keep the whole United States machinery kept up after the war," Ellis Smith, Labor member of parliament, called upon the Churchill government yesterday to explain why Britain was left behind.

He said Americans signed contracts for $200,000,000 to supply the Soviets with machines, tools and commodities. There was no immediate government reply.

played with five different clubs in 1895. From Steubenville he went to Akron, from there to Mansfield, O., same name as his native town in Pennsylvania, then on to Adrian in the Michigan State League. After the acquisition of his brother Al at Warren in the Iron and Oil League played out the rest of the season."

"Looks as if Mr. Allen answers his own question. At 16 Wagner played for the St. Louis, 'the best team in or around Mansfield.' He began as a crosshanded hitter, but his brother Al reminded that Wagner

MADE ACQUAINTANCE
"At the time of the existence of that league (made up of teams in the oil and coal section of Pennsylvania) I was a resident of Warren (a member club) and then made the acquaintance of the brother Al at Warren in the Iron and Oil League played out the rest of the season."

"Looks as if Mr. Allen answers his own question. At 16 Wagner played for the St. Louis, 'the best team in or around Mansfield.' He began as a crosshanded hitter, but his brother Al reminded that Wagner

SECOND STRINGS
"The pluckers in the 'Oil and Coal' league were second strings; but for all Saturday games all component teams had pitchers from the big league clubs (strange as that sounds now) and a good deal of money changed hands."

"It has always been a mystery outside of the oil country how such strong teams could have been maintained in such an oil-rich area. It is simple when it is realized that they were in being at the height of the original oil excitement (Pennsylvania being the first) to have every town have an oil change with a large floating population of speculators who were flush with easy money and ready to spend it."

"Looks as if Mr. Allen answers his own question. At 16 Wagner played for the St. Louis, 'the best team in or around Mansfield.'

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELKED

The baby who cannot sleep through the night without fuss would seem to need some attention in his feeding program.

Mrs. W. MCG. feels she has never had a good night's sleep since her 11-month-old baby was born. "I read your column daily and hope you can help me," she writes.

"My baby weighs 17½ pounds at birth and now weighs around 20 pounds. He has five feet and can crawl around his playpen. He says bye-bye and is very healthy and cheerful.

"At 8 in the morning he gets cereal with four ounces of milk and two more in day. At 10:30 he has a glass of orange juice and one teaspoon of cod liver oil.

"At 1:30 he has one can of vegetable, with either an egg or liver ground in food chopper. This is a can of fruit and a ounces of milk. He then has a nap.

"In the afternoon he has a cracker and a little milk. At 5:30 he has cereal, another can of fruit and four ounces of milk.

"When it is time for him to go to bed at 7 or 8 o'clock he is wakened up by me. At 10 o'clock he has another four ounces of milk and goes to sleep. Then he wakes in the night for another bottle. I know this is wrong but he cries for it.

"I am worn down because with a husband and an 8-year-old girl to care for I get no rest in my life. Some tell me I'm not getting enough cod liver oil. Help me, please."

The outline of his life is good, but it is not the best. He is too poor. So, one has to try to make some improvements.

He drinks 12 ounces of milk at night which it would be better for him to get in the daytime meals. That and offer 8 ounces of milk with the breakfast.

At noon give him vegetable or egg or liver but instead of the fruit serve a milk dessert and four ounces of milk to drink.

Advance the dinner to 6 or 6:30 and give cottage cheese, made with milk, a whole can of fruit and 8 ounces of milk. Or, you might try custard or cottage cheese, with the fruit and milk.

One teaspoon of cod liver oil is the protective dose and unless the child has some degree of rickets it should be enough. If he has, then the doctor will advise what else is necessary. I hope this helps.

"You may have our leaflet, 'Feeding Habits' by sending a 4-cent self-addressed envelope with your request, for it to Myrtle Meyer Elked in care of this newspaper."

JOCKEYS
DO NOT USE SPURS ON THEIR HORSES

Contrary to general belief among crowds that attend horse races, jockeys never use spurs on the horses. They are worn merely because it is an old custom, and a tradition, not because they are racing horses ever given water to drink at the end of a race as is commonly supposed. It would be injurious to the horse. Water is not given until the horse has cooled off. In many cases, it is race rather than the horse, and some people place their money on jockeys rather than on the horses.

First Members W.A.F. Sail From Britain

LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—The first members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force to leave Britain in a contingent have sailed from a British port in a luxury liner for an unannounced destination. The girls, who include such trades as typewriters, dressmakers, electricians, nursing orderlies and hairdressers, didn't know their destination except that it was the Middle East.

MARRIED HERE MONDAY EVENING

Jean Eagleson Pledges Vows

Multi-colored spring flowers were arranged in attractive bouquets on the altar of Holy Trinity church, for the marriage of Miss Jean Eagleson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Eagleson of this city, and Dr. Russell Quentin Collier, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Colley of Castor, The Rev. W. M. Ainsly officiated.

The bride was graduated in Arts from the University of Alberta in 1942, and the bridegroom is a member of the 1944 graduating class in Medicine, and will receive his degree at convocation this month. He is a member of the Alpha Phi fraternity. An accomplished pianist, the bride holds a degree from the Toronto Conservatory of Music. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta of the French and Musical club. She is president of the recent graduates group of the University Women's club.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of soft white lace, which swept to a slight train at the back. Styled on long torso lines, her ensemble had a row of buttons at the back, and was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves which tapered over the wrists, and a skirt, the well of fine bridal tulle was edged with lace and followed the lines of her gown to a slight train. A single gardenia here to her head, and completing her ensemble she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Attendants: Mrs. Rae Churchill was matron-of-honour, and Miss Mary Fowler was bridesmaid. Mrs. Churchill wore a gown of pale yellow tulle, and Miss Fowler made a pretty picture in a dress of pale yellow tulle. Both wore long gloves, and carried long bouquets of white roses. The bridesmaids wore long gloves, and carried long bouquets of white roses. The bridesmaids wore long gloves, and carried long bouquets of white roses.

Best man was Dr. Leonard Love, and usher was Mr. J. H. Cooper. The bride and groom were married by the Rev. W. M. Ainsly.

The ceremony was held at the church, and the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Dr. Russell Quentin Collier and his bride, the former Miss Eleanor Jean Eagleson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Eagleson, are shown here. They were married on Monday evening at Holy Trinity church.

The bride was graduated in Arts from the University of Alberta in 1942, and the bridegroom is a member of the 1944 graduating class in Medicine, and will receive his degree at convocation this month.

He is a member of the Alpha Phi fraternity. An accomplished pianist, the bride holds a degree from the Toronto Conservatory of Music. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta of the French and Musical club. She is president of the recent graduates group of the University Women's club.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of soft white lace, which swept to a slight train at the back. Styled on long torso lines, her ensemble had a row of buttons at the back, and was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves which tapered over the wrists, and a skirt, the well of fine bridal tulle was edged with lace and followed the lines of her gown to a slight train. A single gardenia here to her head, and completing her ensemble she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Attendants: Mrs. Rae Churchill was matron-of-honour, and Miss Mary Fowler was bridesmaid. Mrs. Churchill wore a gown of pale yellow tulle, and Miss Fowler made a pretty picture in a dress of pale yellow tulle. Both wore long gloves, and carried long bouquets of white roses. The bridesmaids wore long gloves, and carried long bouquets of white roses.

Best man was Dr. Leonard Love, and usher was Mr. J. H. Cooper. The bride and groom were married by the Rev. W. M. Ainsly.

The ceremony was held at the church, and the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Olive Beckett Becomes Bride

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Beckett, 11825 86 street, the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Olive Beckett, and Dr. William Galliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Galliver, took place recently with the Rev. J. A. Perrie of Eskine United church officiating.

The bride was joined in marriage by her father and she wore a dress decorated with spring flowers, a wedding cake forming the centerpiece.

After a short wedding trip to the Pacific coast, the bridegroom who recently returned from overseas, will be stationed at Abbotsford, B.C.

For the ceremony Mrs. Beckett wore navy and white polka dot, a wedding cake with hat and accessories to tone and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Galliver's dress was navy and her flowers red roses.

For the wedding reception the bride and groom were seated with spring flowers, a wedding cake forming the centerpiece.

What to Do With Germany

By LOUIS NIZER

How the Prussian War Cult and its Mass High Executions Can Be Destroyed; Economic Measures to Keep Germany Healthy, Prosperous and Yet Unable to Continue Preparations for More Wars.

Chapter XIV.

We have, like good protection officials, traced the case history of the criminal and found that the educational background running back many generations. Now we know that reform school is essential, and that particular attention must be given to special curricula, adequate to correct the inculcation of false moral principles. We have realized that the educational program must be devised not by local politicians but by academic authorities of the highest standing—the International University.

Having observed that an environment of poverty and hopelessness prevents a psychology of penitence and reform, we have provided for a favorable economic condition of the defective. In all, this history has acted as a sign-post pointing the direction of the future. Having determined where the responsibility rests, we apply the sword of justice in all its measured impartiality.

First, we forfeit Germany's sovereignty as a nation, to be restored if and when, she ceases to be a menace to the society of peoples. We have provided how that decision may be made.

Second, having punished the nation as an entity, we punish as individual war criminals. For this purpose we construct two kinds of courts.

Third, international commissions as well as national tribunals should guard the abundant data of the criminality under the immediate direction of the prosecutor.

AVENUE JUSTICE

Fourth, we list bureaucratic agencies of the German Reich from which the officials originate. These, the upper crust of Nazism, the Leader, Cabinet and Gauleiters, the High Command, the Gestapo, the Sturm Abteilung, the Labor Front, the German People's Courts, the Schutzstaffel and others must be exterminated according to law.

Fifth, we have recommended how certain troublesome questions of International Law should be answered—such as the defense that a superior officer's command was obeyed.

Sixth, we have proposed measures to prevent the guilty from obtaining asylum in neutral countries.

Despite a most extensive judicial system conceived in Versailles Treaty Germany evaded any real punishment. We shall versify the ingenious methods which she employed to successfully elude our program. The deed is done, and the Prussian War Cult and its Mass Executions must be destroyed. The world demands it. Hope for a better world requires it.

The punishment provisions spill over into the economic realm. This is quite natural, since the complex forces of society will not be confined to labeled compartments. Life is stormy and unorthodox, and no respecter of the planner's pre-arranged designs. The economic program has two main directions, one preventive and punitive, the other affirmative.

The former is designed to disarm Germany economically as well as militarily. It proposes:

First, that all plants and machinery which produce war material be scrapped, removed or demolished.

CONTROL OF POLICY

Second, that the machine tool industry, steel mills, power houses and important "heavy industries" be destroyed or taken from German control. While physical operation could be left to Germans, international trustees should determine personnel of management, contracts, investments and foreign arrangements. There would be no reliance upon mere "inspection".

Control of policy itself would be attained. No cartel arrangements could then be made to restrict foreign production of vital materials. Nor could fifth columns of sabotage and espionage be organized under the respectable guise of business enterprise.

Third, that stocks of metals, oil or other strategic war materials in excess of normal domestic consumption be removed from the country and never repatriated.

Fourth, that restitution be made of stolen property wherever obtainable. We have analyzed the different methods by which it was illegally obtained. They range from the military marauders called "Wehrmacht" to the "acquisition of title" by devices frauds such as the "Sonderauftrag". Through one form or another, the property is transferred.

Saskatchewan Election New Test For C.C.F.

By GEORGE FINLAY

REGINA, May 2.—(CP)—First important test of the C.C.F. since the Ontario election last August is looked for in Saskatchewan in June when Premier W. J. Patterson's Liberal administration, with 35 members in the 52-seat house, seek return to office.

Mr. Patterson has not set the date for polling day but the once extended life of the legislature ends July 10. The last election was held June 8, 1938.

At present the C.C.F. had 10 members in the legislature. It was grouped as "national reform" members. 3 seats were vacant.

NOMINATIONS UNDERWAY

All parties today are busy with nominations meetings, and many three-cornered contests are expected. The C.C.F. says it will contest every constituency with the 40-year-old leader, Rev. C. Douglas of Weyburn directing the campaign.

Mr. Douglas, Scotch-born Baptist minister, will resign from parliament and contest a Saskatchewan seat. He represents Weyburn in the commons.

The Progressive Conservatives are active under a new leader, Rupert O. Ramsay of Saskatoon, 46-year-old native of Toronto, who came west in 1905. He is professor of agriculture at the University of Saskatchewan.

John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservatives, has come from the east and will speak the Yorkton tonight. Agriculture Minister Gardiner recently visited the province, and other federal leaders are expected during the campaign.

TRADITIONALLY LIBERAL

Traditionally Liberal, Saskatchewan has had but one other party administration since 1905 when it gained provincial status. The Conservatives were in power from 1929 to 1934 when Mr. Gardiner, the first Liberal premier to meet party defeat, returned to power in a landslide victory. He resigned in 1935 to enter the federal cabinet and was succeeded by Mr. Patterson, first native-born premier. He was born at Grenfell 38 years ago.

The Social Credit party, which in 1932 elected two of 35 candidates, will have nominees where there is a demand for a Social Credit candidate, but will not contest as many as in the 1935 election. It provided the interest in 1935; this year the C.C.F. is the challenger.

In the drought-depression years, the Patterson government, which was in power, had wartime prosperity has changed the Saskatchewan scene with plans for post-war reconstruction dominant.

WARN AGAINST C.C.F.

Who will administer post-war programs? Spokesmen for the Patterson administration warn a C.C.F. victory will mean a policy of "regimentation"; the C.C.F. call for a new economic order, and the Progressive Conservatives for a change in administrative policy as carried on by the Liberals.

The Patterson government's reconstruction program calls for expenditure of $100,000,000 on public buildings, highways, soil surveys and other agricultural projects.

The next legislature will have three members representing Saskatchewan men and women in the armed services—one will be elected in Canada, one in Great Britain and one in the Mediterranean area.

Reserve Army Notes

61st Battery Welcomes Maj. Vereker Back Home

The officers of the 61st Field Battery held a dinner on the evening of April 26 for the purpose of welcoming Major Jeffery Vereker home from overseas. Major Vereker was manager of the Norwood Boulevard branch of the Imperial Bank before going on active service in 1940, and in August of 1940 he recruited and organized the present 61st Reserve Battery. The present personnel consists of only a few of the original officers and men, as the Battery has lost several times its present strength due to enlistments for active service.

Major Vereker served in the First Great War and has been overseas for over 13 years. Major Nelles Buchanan, M.C., who temporarily assumed command of the Battery when Major Vereker went overseas, also attended the dinner, and a most interesting evening's discussion took place in regard to former associates.

The Active Forces is spending a fortnight with his family in Edmonton.

ECONOMICS IN LAYMAN'S LANGUAGE

That's the Good Thing about VICTORY BONDS

THEY ARE AN IMPORTANT PART OF OUR ALL-OVER SECURITY PLAN

PAYING FOR THE WAR

WE'VE GOT TO WIN THIS WAR

and we've got to pay for the supplies and equipment to do it without bringing on inflation.

To pay for the war, taxes on incomes, profits and luxuries have been increased. But that's not enough. And there's a practical limit to taxes—so funds also have to be secured in other ways.

Victory Bonds are the best alternative for raising extra funds without increasing taxes to a level that would be unbearable.

PREVENTING INFLATION

When there is so much more money to spend than there are goods to spend it on then the danger of inflation, with its disastrous rise in the cost of living, looms over us.

To meet the threat of inflation, prices, profits, wages and supplies are controlled.

Excess spending must also be switched from where it can bid up prices and costs, and put to work for the common good.

PROTECTION FOR THE INDIVIDUAL

Over 3 million individual Canadians have invested over 3 billion dollars to date in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates.

Wilted around for loose spending, this 3 billion dollars would have bid up prices, created black markets, prevented the fair distribution of supplies... blown the lid off.

For national security and stability nothing has been a more important factor in preventing inflation than this investment by Canadians.

Millions of Canadians have learned new habits of thrift and the way to protect their own future.

5,000 Edmonton Workers Participate in Annual May Day Demonstration

An estimated 5,000 members of organized labor in Edmonton gathered at the market square Monday night in the annual May day labor demonstration. The mass meeting followed a spectacular parade in which some of the wartime industrial activities were depicted.

The parade and meeting was sponsored by the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council in aid of the Sixth Victory Loan and representatives of the province, city, the armed forces, and the National War Finance Committee addressed the meeting.

Alderman Sidney Parsons was chairman of the meeting, and in opening he said that it was solidly behind the war effort, and participating in the annual investing in the Sixth Victory Loan.

Col. E. "Red" Brown, M.C., a veteran trade unionist, brought greetings from the armed services. Robert McCraith, past president of Trades and Labor Council also spoke.

GREETINGS FROM CITY

Ald. Fred J. Mitchell, acting mayor, bringing greetings from the city of Edmonton, spoke on the interdependence of labor and industry, and said that it was a group of people more conscious of the responsibility of the individual than the worker. He said that the Sixth Victory Loan was a test of the strength of Canadian citizenship that has given us the vast accomplishments of the past five years.

R. E. Staples, chairman, Edmonton War Finance Committee, thanking the trade union movement of Edmonton for the wonderful support given to the Victory Loan, referred to the great effort being done by the labor force in other fields of war service. He referred to the strike pledge given by the leaders of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, a pledge which was honored by the Congress members.

He referred also to the active part taken by labor here as blood and sweat, air raid workers, Red Cross workers, and also to the support given to the $250,000,000 Victory Loan by the labor force in other fields of war service. U.S. Charges Match Cartel By 10 Firms

NEW YORK, May 2 (CP)—The United States department of justice filed yesterday in federal court a civil complaint charging 10 companies—one of them Canadian—with maintenance of an international cartel in the manufacture and distribution of matches.

One named in the complaint was two British companies, five American companies, a Swedish firm, and officers and agents of some of the 10 companies.

Edy Match Company, Limited, of Pembroke, Ont., was named as one of the defendants.

The government alleged a cartel had existed since 1901; had suppressed competition, suppressed inventions and improvements and by acquiring patents controlled the so-called "revelating match" had suppressed its production and sale.

By B. T. Richardson, Edmonton, Alberta, for the United States.

OTTAWA, May 2—Important revelations of the international operations of cartels, including Canadian connections, have been made in the United States. One cartel receiving mention in Canadian industries is the match industry.

While no hint has been given of possible action against combines of cartels in Canada, the Minister Humphrey Mitchell, whose department administers the International Trade Investigation Act, has asked for full report in the disclosure of cartels. Such action may be a prelude to re-opening the Combines Investigation Act and re-opening of cartels under it.

During wartime, anti-combine work has been going along with the enforcement of wartime prices and trade board operations to control competition. Attractive prices are being offered for the purchase of goods.
